MORRIS M'MAHON'S BREAKFAST, He Enjoys a Meal Which was Not

Prepared for Him. Morris McMahon, a tramp, walked into the Virginia House dining-room this morning, and, finding a meal prepared there for a guest, sat down and very deliberately proceeded to gratify his appetite.

Just as he was finishing the remnants the guest for whom the breakfast had been served, and who had retired to the bar room for a cocktail, stepped into the room. McMahon vacated his chair, carefully wiped his mouth with a nap-kin and walked out on the street.

A policeman was called and took him into custody. At the Police Court Judge Miller said to him: "McMahon, you are here again for vagrancy." "I don't care a d- If I am," was

"Take him down stairs," said the
Judge, "I will fix his term later,"

Couldn't Get His Air Ship Patented. Arthur de Bausset's application for patent on an air ship has been rejected by Patent Commissioner Mitchell. The inventor has never made a ship in accordance with his theory, and a year or more ago, a bill was introduced in Congress appropriating money to enable him to make a practical test of his claims. The bill failed to pass.

The grounds of the rejection were that the alleged invention was wholly theoretical, based entirely on calculation and not on trial or demonstration

A Scared Editor,

A regged farmer statked into the sanction with a big whip unsiter his arm.

"Be you the editor?" he asked, "I am," was the half apprehensive reply.

"Here's two dollars—send the your paper, for life," he said.

"You see," he went on, "our daughter was sick and liked to die; she drooped and grew weak and pale, had headaches, no appetite, back ached, feet and hands like tee, couldn't sleep, hacked with cough, and we thought she had consumption. No medicine helped her till we tried that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription mentioned in your paper, when she began to mend in no time, and is now well and handsome as a rose. Put me down as a life onberther."

Now the editor is looking for another ourse. The medicine has cured scores afficied as was the farmer's daughter, restoring the female functions to healthy action and removing the obstructions and suppressions which caused her trouble. It is guaracteed to give satisfaction, or price (&1.00 redunted.)
